CHETAK ASHA SCHOOL

Chetak Asha School. Each child is unique in his or her own way and has the birth-right to reach the highest potential. With this core belief, in June 1996 Chetak Asha School was founded, which aims at assisting Specially-Abled Children in achieving their highest potential. The School reflects the concern of our organisation and more specifically the Army Wives Welfare Association (AWWA), to look after our specially-abled children and to provide them opportunities to gain the skills and confidence required to lead a normal life among peers, in school and the community. Bhatinda Military Station has a fair number of Specially-Abled Children who are challenged in respective abilities. Chetak Asha School has been executing the task of educating & training the Specially-Abled Children of serving soldiers, ex-servicemen and civilians and is dedicated to helping them overcome their physical and/ or learning challenges.
